

STAFF PHOTO BY CHUCK COOK

Covington quarterback Nick Boullosa is ready to take over the Lions this season, and the team has implemented plays to take advantage of his strong left arm.

Boullosa ready to take charge as quarterback

By Tammy Nunez
Staff writer

Last year, Covington's fans saw so much of Nick Boullosa, they must have assumed he has a twin.

The Covington senior does. But Michael Boullosa didn't play last season; Nick Boullosa played every offensive skill position, and finally landed at quarterback when starter Michael Steele struggled with injuries and confidence.

"Because he played so many positions last year, he never really took a leadership role. But he could have," Covington quarterbacks coach John Boudreaux said. "This year, this is Nick's team."

See BOULLOSA, D-10